

2013 ANNUAL REPORT

FY 2012-2013

MISSION

The mission of the South Carolina Developmental Disabilities Council is to provide leadership in planning, funding, and implementing initiatives that lead to improved quality of life for people with developmental disabilities and their families through advocacy, capacity building, and systemic change.

Doris Allen and her daughter Courtney attend the Transition Conference put on by Able SC, Protection and Advocacy and the DD Council.

PURPOSE

The South Carolina Developmental Disabilities Council was established in 1971 by Executive Order of the Governor and was reauthorized in 2010. The council is comprised of members appointed by the Governor. The Council consists of individual advocates, relatives, service providers and state and local agency representatives.

The council is federally funded under the Developmental Disabilities Act. Activities focus on consumer-family centered systems. This comprehensive system includes individualized support, community services and other forms of assistance which promotes self-determination. The implementation of these services and initiatives lead to improved quality of life for persons with disabilities and their families; helping them to feel and become an integral part of their surrounding community.

“A Word from the Chair”

Amy Davenport, Developmental Disabilities Council Chairperson

A special thanks to everyone for working so diligently this past year. 2013 proved to have a number of success stories. The DD Council focused attention on editing and clarifying policies and procedures. While the basic principles and core concepts remain the same; areas were strengthened to minimize uncertainty and enhance Council value. We expounded on the State Plan Goals; tying in the how's and why's of requirements for grant proposals.

The Council also redefined roles within the council; ensuring everyone understood their purpose and to encourage greater dialogue among members. Guaranteeing greater definition, more vocal responses and giving a definitive voice to all aspects of Developmental Disabilities.

The Council recruited new members statewide to ensure balanced representation throughout South Carolina and to secure a stronger voice in advocacy.

The year has been productive and we continue to strive to improve the quality of life for people with Intellectual Disabilities/Developmental Disabilities and their families.

VALUES STATEMENT

The South Carolina Developmental Disabilities Council believes:

- Families are the foundation of our society
- An individual with developmental disabilities may provide additional challenges in the family.
- A coordinated system of support is critical to the individual, family members and community to foster independence, productivity and inclusion into the community setting.
- Individuals and family members should be actively involved in the decision making process for supports and services.

To The Citizens of the Great State of South Carolina:

The 2013 South Carolina Developmental Disabilities Council (SCDDC) Annual Report highlights its 2013 projects and priorities. SCDDC remains focused in its commitment to improving the lives of South Carolinians with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families.

SCDDC focuses on diverse projects that will help us improve outcomes as identified in our State Plan Goals and Objectives. Our priority areas are: Community Supports, Employment, Health and Self-Advocacy. Projects are developed in direct response to the concerns and needs voiced by consumers, families, service providers, policy-makers, and others.

Members of the SCDDC work together with a shared passion, using our diverse knowledge, experiences and background, while always focusing on our plan, mission, and goals. Our members embrace the challenge of helping to shape a better future for South Carolinians with intellectual and developmental disabilities and their families.
